

Biography – D N Joseph

Dennis gained a PhD in Pharmacology before joining the industry as a CRA and held clinical research operational and management roles of increasing responsibility in several pharmaceutical companies and a CRO before joining Pfizer UK as Head of Clinical Research in 1999. In his current role Dennis is responsible for Phase II-IV clinical research operations across Western Europe, Korea and Australia. A major part of his role includes process development and Dennis has led the implementation of a Functional Service Provider model for monitoring and CTA resources in major European markets and Canada. More recently Dennis has been leading the implementation of Pfizer's new global clinical trial foot print.